LITTEL'S LIVING AGE.

E. LITTEL & CO., cor. of Tremont and Brinton Streets, Boston.

This work is conducted in the spirit of Litell's

Museum of Foreign Literature, which was favorably received by the public for twenty years), but as it is twice as large, and appears so often, the editor not only gives spirit and freshness to it by many things which were excluded by him in the first edition, but while thus extending his scope and gathering a greater and more attractive variety, is able to increase the solid and substantial part of his Literary, historical, and political harvest, as fully to satisfy the wants of the American reader.

The elaborate and studious Essays of the Editor, the multi-criticisms on Poetry, his keen political Correspondence, highly wrought Tales, and various Descriptions of rural and mountain Scenery, and the contributions to Literature, History, and Political Economy, by the sagacious Speculator, the shrewd Examiner, the judicious Atheneum, the and comprehensive Literary Gazette, the learned and respectable Christian Observer; these are intermixed with the best articles of the Military and Naval

Services, and with the best of the American news and literature.

WEDNESDAY MORNING OUT, 2, 1850

YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE AT PATTYFIELD, MASS.—A friend, who was present at the late Ninth Anniversary of this Seminary, speaks of it in the highest terms, and avers that it deserves to be known, whatever the advantages of a high and refined education are appreciated. The Institute is situated in one of the most healthy and beautiful parts of New England. The grounds, which comprise eighteen acres, are laid out with elegant taste. Upon them are three large and handsome edifices; two for the accommodation of the boarders; and one, that in the centre, containing a spacious school-room and other apartments for various branches of learning.

The exercises at the Anniversary were full of interest and admirably managed. They commenced with a voluntary on the Organ, which was followed by one of Mendelssohn's noble Motets. Then succeeded a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Dewy; a Duet, "It is not always May," by the pupils; a Poem by Park Benjamin, Esq.; the report of the Examining Committee; degrees for extraordinary proficiency were then conferred on five young ladies; an original hymn was sung; another affecting and appropriate prayer was offered, and, last of all, the benediction was pronounced.

Notwithstanding the number of these exercises, they did not occupy quite three hours; indeed, the whole affair was excellently arranged, and went off with great spirit.

The Institute is under the direction of Mr. W. H. Tyler, a gentleman eminently capable, and to whom the highest praises are due for the almost perfect state to which he has brought the business of female education.

REMEMBER THE SATIRICAL POEM ON "FASHION," BY PARK BENJAMIN, ESQ., AT THE BELLEVUE HALL, TO-MORROW EVENING. IT WILL BE A MOST AMUSING AFFAIR. TICKETS MAY BE HAD AT THE BOOKSTORES, AND AT TILLEY'S NEWSPAPER DEPOT.

JEP JENNY LIND IS TO SING IN HOWARD HALL, PROVIDENCE, NEXT Monday evening. The price of tickets is fixed at three dollars; the choice of seats will be sold at auction Friday.

PATENT POST OFFICE ARRANGEMENT.—The Providence mail will close daily, except Sunday, at 8:15 o'clock. All other mails will open and close as previously announced.

THE "DAY-BOOK," one of the daily papers published in New York, thinks that the great commotion excited by Jenny Lind's arrival, is a trick of Barnum's to subvert the Constitution of the United States, elect her President, and place the whole country under his tyrannical Government.

SMOKING ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon, a horse harnessed to a coal-wagon, took fright and ran furiously up Summer street. When nearly opposite the house of Mr. James H. Anthony, the horse turned upon the sidewalk, and in his course, knocked down and passed directly over two young ladies,—Miss Sarah E. Hawks, of this town, and Miss Elizabeth A. Peckham, of Fall River—who were walking together. Miss Hawks was very seriously injured, receiving several wounds about the head and face. Her recovery is considered doubtful. She was immediately carried into the house of Mr. Anthony, where Dr. Dawes and Hubbard were called, and all necessary assistance rendered.

Mrs. Peckham escaped without serious injury.—Taunton Gazette.

THE LADY WHO WOULD BECOME REALLY BEAUTIFUL, must make the cultivation of her mind—of those intellectual and moral powers with which her Creator has endowed—her first and principal care. Pure affections must be cherished; amiable dispositions encouraged; useful knowledge acquired; and a mild, even and obliging temper assiduously cultivated; or all her endeavors to obtain real beauty will prove to have been in vain.

NEVER suffer your children to require service from others, which they can perform for themselves. A strict observance of this rule will be of incalculable advantage to them through every period of life.

Axes.—Southey has the following unique definition:—Ape, human creatures who were left unfinished, because they were made so late on Saturday that the Sabbath put a stop to the work.

BY TELEGRAPH.

CONGRESS.
WASHINGTON, Monday, Sept. 30.
Senate. The Senate met at 10 o'clock, and went immediately into Executive session.

After some little time the doors were opened, and the Senate at 12 o'clock quietly adjourned, sine die.

House. The House met at 11 o'clock, with a quorum present. A beautifully touching prayer was offered by Mr. Gurley.

The remaining bills were then signed by the Speaker.

The House refused to suspend the rules to put on its final passage the bill for the relief of Mrs. Lynch.

Mr. Johnson of Tenn. moved a reconsideration—which motion was postponed till the next session.

Various ineffectual efforts were made to get up private bills amid much tumult, and all was hurry and confusion.

Half past 11 o'clock.

The House refused to fix a time at the next session for the consideration of the post route bill.

A committee was appointed to wait on the President.

A bill supplementary to the bounty land bill, from the Senate, was read and much confusion. "Rap, rap," and cries of "Order."

This bill forbids the sale of warrants and requires the location of lands.

The yeas and nays on the suspension of the rule to consider it were called.

Mr. Wentworth wanted the land speculators turned out of the hall.

"Rap, "rap," "Order," "order," and much laughter.

Quarter to 12.

The committee reported that the President had no communication to make. The roll was called.

Twelve o'clock.

The hammer fell and the session was pronounced closed.

Loud applause. Galleries and lobbies were very much crowded.

THE ALTA CALIFORNIAN of the 16th August, thus notices the arrival at that port of Col. MAGRUDER'S BATTERY OF U. S. LIGHT ARTILLERY FROM FORT McHENRY, NEAR BALTIMORE:

"The long-looked-for artillery battalion known throughout the country by all those familiar with the exploits achieved by our gallant army during the Mexican war, as 'Magruder's Battery,' arrived on Saturday in the ship Monterey, all in good health. We understand that this corps is composed of picked men, most of whom have been accustomed to the service and to their particular arm. And well may they after the brilliant part they took during the war. They are to be stationed, we understand, at the Mission, near San Diego, a very comfortable spot."

LIEUTS. EDY, PATTERSON, and BELZONER, and ASSISTANT SURGEON ABBOTT, are attached to this battery.

I KNOW NO PASSION more appropriate to devils, than the passion for gross misrepresentation and libel."—DANIEL WEBSTER.

RELATION is like the firmament; the more one searches it the more stars are seen, it is like the sea; the more one views it the more boundless it appears.

To learn is to practise, to think is the deed, knowledge is the means, and wisdom the end.

If a jewel be genuine, care not who says it is not.

RATHER choose to chastise thy desires than to be chastised on account of them.

A SHIP should not be made to depend on one anchor, nor live on one hope.

NEVER condemn a friend unheard, or without letting him know his accuser, or his crime.

The wrath of an ape and the threat of a flatterer should be regarded alike.

We should stretch neither cut legs nor hopes beyond possibilities.

The more a man knows, the less he is apt to talk—discretion alleys his host, and makes him coolly deliberate what and where it is fit to speak.

GET justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and live contentedly.

The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think, than what to think; rather to improve our minds, so as to enable us to think for ourselves, than to load the memory with the thoughts of other men.

THE LANGUAGE OF BIRDS.

The boblink, or conquiddle, is celebrated throughout New England for the great variety of speeches attributed to him. He is a great chattering, and always seems to be talking with rapidity while he is singing. Some of his notes certainly bear a resemblance to the word which is given to him as a name. Among the ludicrous phrases which he is often heard to utter, the following dialogue is given. Boblink spires one of his comrades half buried in the tall grass and soaring above him he vociferates: "Winter, seeble winter, seeble, conquiddle, conquiddle, hid in the clover, come pay me, come pay me, you've owed me seven-and-sixpence more than two weeks and now you mean to cheat me!" Upon hearing this, conquiddle rises up with quivering wing from his hiding place, and cries out with exulting voice, as he poises himself in the air: "Wadlink, wadlink, whiskodink, whiskodink, dances a single jig, I've nothing for you, watcher, watcher, say another word to me and you may whistle for it all your life-time!"

Not only the wild birds, but our domestic poultry are occasionally heard to make some very significant remarks. It is a remarkable fact, that the common ducks invariably call out "Quack, quack, quack!" whenever a doctor's sulky passes by their flock. But the most extraordinary of all the speeches of the feathered tribe, is that of Chanticleer, which may be regarded as deciding a controversy that has long been waged in the civilized community.—Old chanticleer awakes in the morning, flaps his wings, and vociferates at the top of his voice, "Woman rule!—rule!" Immediately from a neighboring roost, another answers, "So they do!—So they do every mornin'!"

I will conclude with that interesting little bird, called the wood pewee, an inhabitant of our woods. What seems like some benighted wanderer, flying free to tree, and crying, "Pe-a-wee, pe-a-wee," in such a plaintive manner as those who approach him, will find him to be a true and honest bird.
